SOUTH-

Where we rush headlong into life . . .
caught in the gap between youth and maturity

In the classroom
We become a part of the knowledge of adult generations.

... and outside the classroom, we face each new thrill with the enthusiasm of youth.

Traditions at South
become a part of us...
as the things we do become a part of South...

Wow! What a thrilling experience it has been to serve you this year as Student Body President. This experience has been one that I will value all my life. I would like to thank you, as the studentbody of South High, for your support and participation in this year's activities. These activities were only possible through the dedication and leadership exhibited by our student officers. South will always be number one. It was our goal this year to keep "South Alive in 85". And with your support this has been accomplished. I wish each of you well in the years to come and hope that you will continue to strive for excellence in all your endeavors.

Yours Truly

Sam Wilson

S.B.O.s Go to RI

One of the many problems the officers had to face was deciding what to put in place of Goldrush. The best solution seemed to be a Cub Follies, a combination dinner and talent show presented by alumni, students and teachers.

The officers were also kept busy maintaining the many new committees set up in last year's new constitution. Committee members had to be chosen for such groups as the Minority Affairs Committee, the Fairness Committee and the House of Representatives.

Things seemed to move smoothly in officers meetings and with their projects. One reason for this is the amount of past experience the officers have had before. Another great help was Student Leadership Camp which was held in Rhode Island and financed with money from the Danforth Foundation.

Lisa Wood: One of Lisa's many responsibilities is to paint posters to inform students of upcoming events.

Kristin Bollwinkle: Being Student Body Secretary causes Kris to spend many hours organizing, typing and talking on the phone.

Heidi Thaller: Heidi has great enthusiasm and spirit as she glances through last years history book for new ideas.

Lisa Cobler: Lisa is in charge of many activities such as The House of Representatives. Lisa is very busy and seldom has an opportunity to relax.

A Thrill A Minute And A Lifetime Thrill

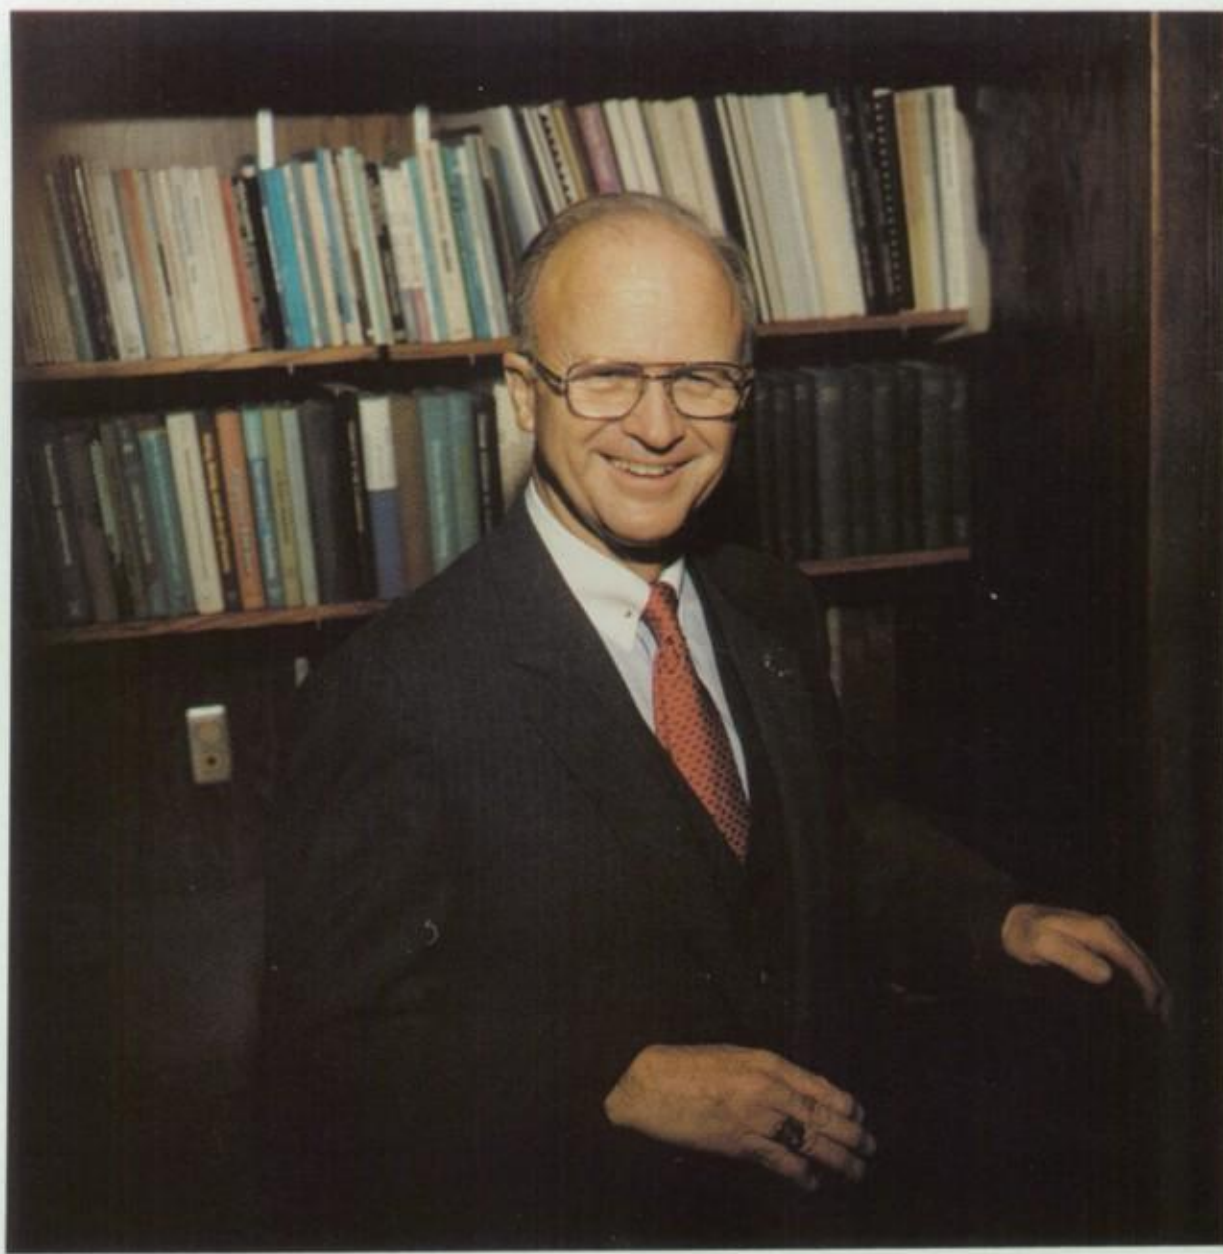

Riding the colossus at Lagoon provides a two minute thrill that is hard to duplicate. The thrill is brief and temporary. It is soon forgotten. The lasting thrill comes when we know that what we do now will have an effect tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow. Knowing this, we will do our best at all times, and the best will make a positive and glowing contribution to the world.

If we believe this, then we won't try to be interesting; we will be interested. We won't expect to be pleased; we will be pleasing. We won't wait to be entertained; we will be entertaining. We won't wait to be loved; we will be lovable. We won't ask to be helped; we will be helpful.

Being recognized by the President of the United States as one of the best schools in the nation is a thrill we all share because we all wanted it to be that way.

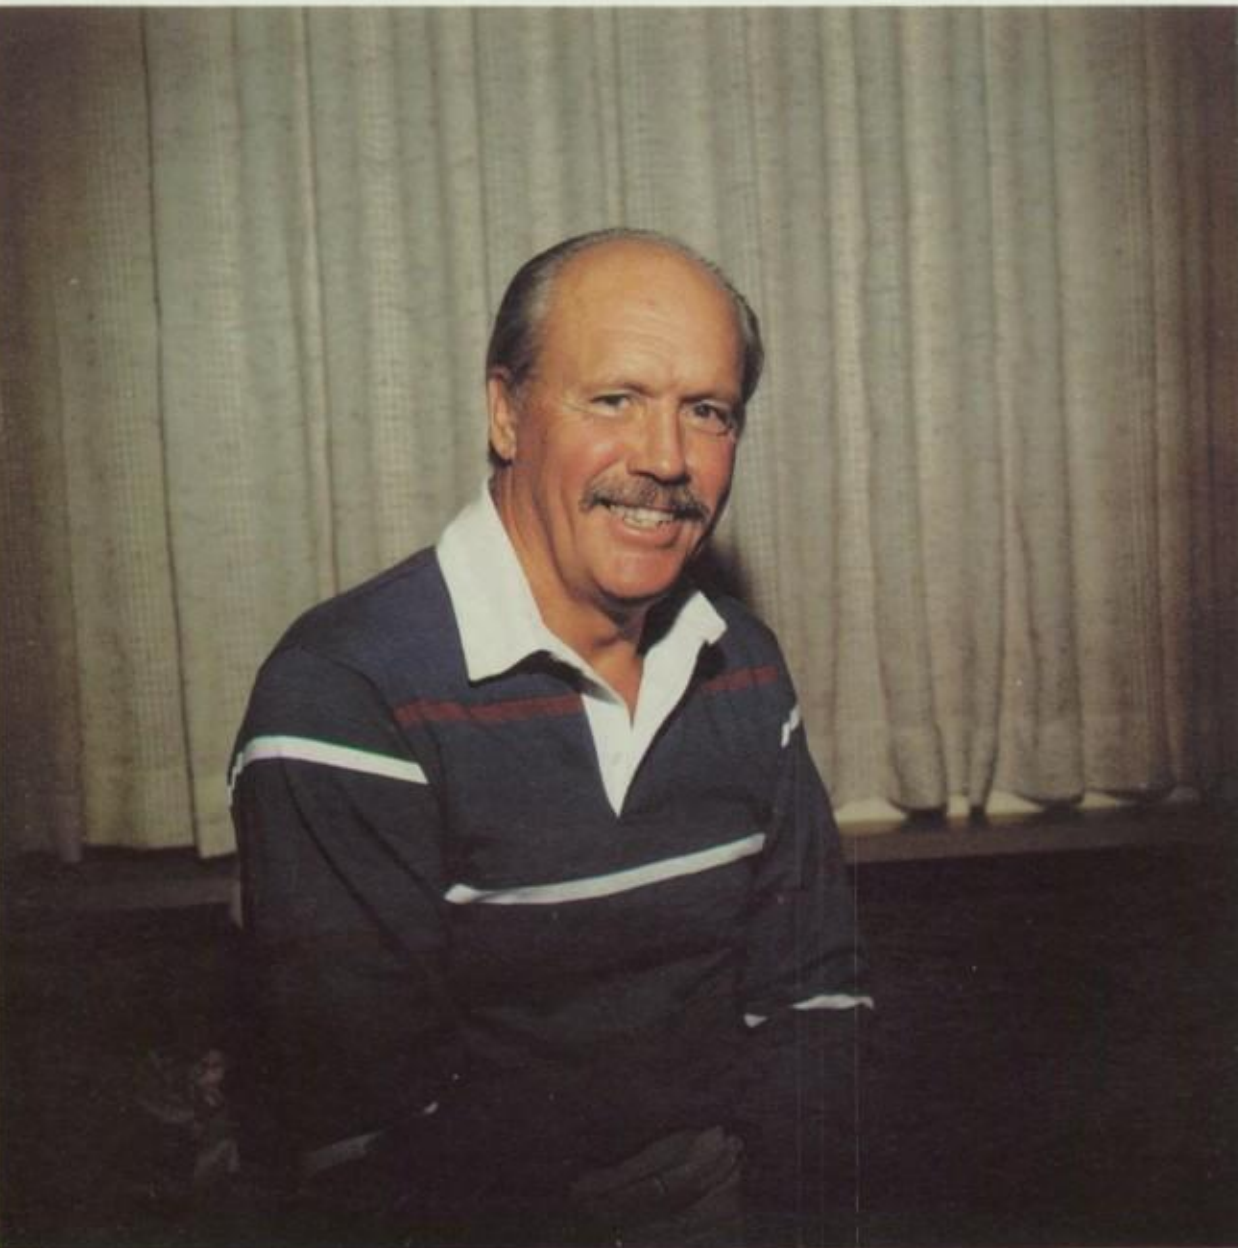

The thrill from riding the colossus is real, but soon forgotten. The thrill of being the best because we can and have made a glowing contribution to the world will remain with us forever.

Lester L. Sorensen

All the studentbody and faculty were very proud as Dr. Sorensen received the Excellence of Education Award and flag from National Education Secretary Bell. Our school was one of 115 chosen as best schools in the nation.

Each day at South High School represents a new challenge. Indeed, one could call it a thrill a minute. A continual barrage of different problems, new students, new faces, transfers in and out of school, emergencies, schedule changes, happy times and bad times seem to be all a daily happening at South High adding up to a thrill a minute.

All of the above and more represent individual problem solving that not only makes each day pass with electrifying swiftness but a feeling of what happened, did I finish all that I started or what next.

In summation for me South High happenings not only represent a thrill a minute but a challenge that makes everyday one of excitement, one of productivity, and one of being proud to be a South High Club involved with South High Clubs.

Willard E. Kneib

Many exciting and challenging experiences have occurred during the school year which has allowed each individual at South High School and excellent opportunity to grow and develop. Through these experiences we develop specific skills and talents that help an individual to become an integral part of a very complex society.

At no other time in the history of the world have more individuals had the opportunity to fulfill their educational goals than we have today. I would challenge each of us to strive for excellence and to share our knowledge and expertise with each other giving every individual the opportunity to achieve their goals in life.

I am very proud to have served as an educator at South High School this past year.

K. Stowell

Where do you go when...

... It's a Monday morning and your locker won't open-you need more lunch tickets-you've lost your wallet or purse-you need a class change-your library book is overdue-you need a research paper on the theory of relativity-you've locked your keys in the car.

There are many special services performed by many special people. The counselors do much more than change your schedule and send you to detention. They give good advice pertaining to the many problems of our teenage lives and much more. Custodians have many more tasks than sweeping the floor. They keep our building warm, lighted and our grounds clean and orderly. Everytime you read a daily bulletin or need a transcript of credits then you'll know the secretaries have been hard at work. What if your research paper is due tomorrow?

Then go to the Library and ask the helpful library staff to show you where to find Einstein's theory of relativity.

You've fallen behind in math and you definitely need extra help in Latin. The Volunteer Coordinator or Community School Director can easily fill these needs. Next stop is the Career Center because without a job you'll miss your next car payment. One final check at the book store to see if anybody has seen your algebra book. How do you thank all these people for these special services? Say it with a smile.

District equality requires changes.

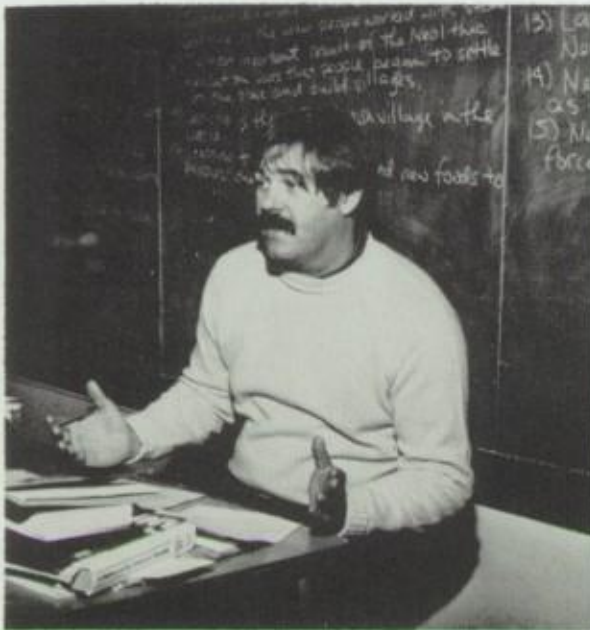

With the closed boundary policy came the obligation to provide the same classes for all students in each school within the district. This year, the changes were made for the freshman classes and the changes will be phased in for each of the other three classes one year at a time so that by 1987 all high schools will offer the same curriculum. These changes in classes have required changing in teaching staff as well.

Several new teachers became part of the South High faculty this year. Lory Curtis came to teach Auto Shop, Mary Herman to teach English and be Scribe advisor. Also new to the English Department was Audry Andersen who also teaches in the Salt Lake High program. In the Social Studies new teachers were Payman Jahanbin and James Hill. Mr. Jahanbin also worked in the ESL program with another new teacher, Victoria Haralson. A special addition was Kathy Butler to the P.E. department. Miss Butler spent a lot of time last year substituting here and helping with the girl's sports programs. Paul Cutrer was a retournee to the school, having taught last year at Bryant Jr. High. Mr. Cutrer worked with another new teacher, Sheldon Davis.

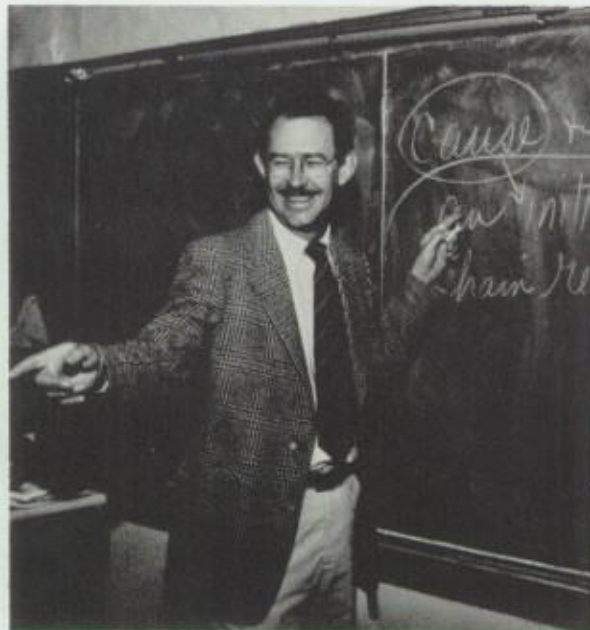

The closed boundary also brought more than 200 new students to South. This increased the class loads in many areas such as the English, history, math and foreign language classes. Everyone was glad to welcome the new teachers and the new students to our school.

South Provides special programs for special needs

Going to Jule Marines room, 216, is a great relief from the rest of the hectic, weary day rooms at South. Mr. Marine tries his best to create a comfortable environment for the students in his special skills and reading classes. He orders couches, arm chairs and lots of plants. He has the students write to famous people to acquire the reading and writing skills needed to make it through high school.

The special E.S.L. students are those who need extra help in learning skills. The time they spent in refugee camps and settling here in the United States cost them a lot of valuable time that could have been used for educating. Mr. Wood helped those students tremendously in catching up with all the things they lost. By using computers and their minds they expand their horizons and their chances of graduating from high school.

Mr. Hancey teaches the Cad. system, (Computer Aided Drafting) to the future architects of America. They use a computer to store measurement and the screen displays the details of the program. A plotter, the pen which is connected to the computer, does the actual drawing on paper and it accomplished this in 1/10 the time of the usual draftman process.

The special needs of students are met in room 216.

Mr. Wood records the E.S.L. rolls on the computer.

Students get ready as the bell is about to ring from seventh period.

Volunteers and Aids are special people.

This year at South High there have been different volunteer programs. For the past few years at South volunteers from Mt. Bell have come to help with students and teachers problems. The volunteers donate their time and receive no pay. There are also two senior citizens that help with Arithmetic. The program is called the Smiles Program and the school is fortunate to have them. Special money was allocated by the Board of Education to fund for two teachers and four students in Math and English tutoring for students lacking in those skills. The aids, who are paid not nearly enough for the fine work they do, are under the instruction of the teachers and help a lot with the extra work they have.

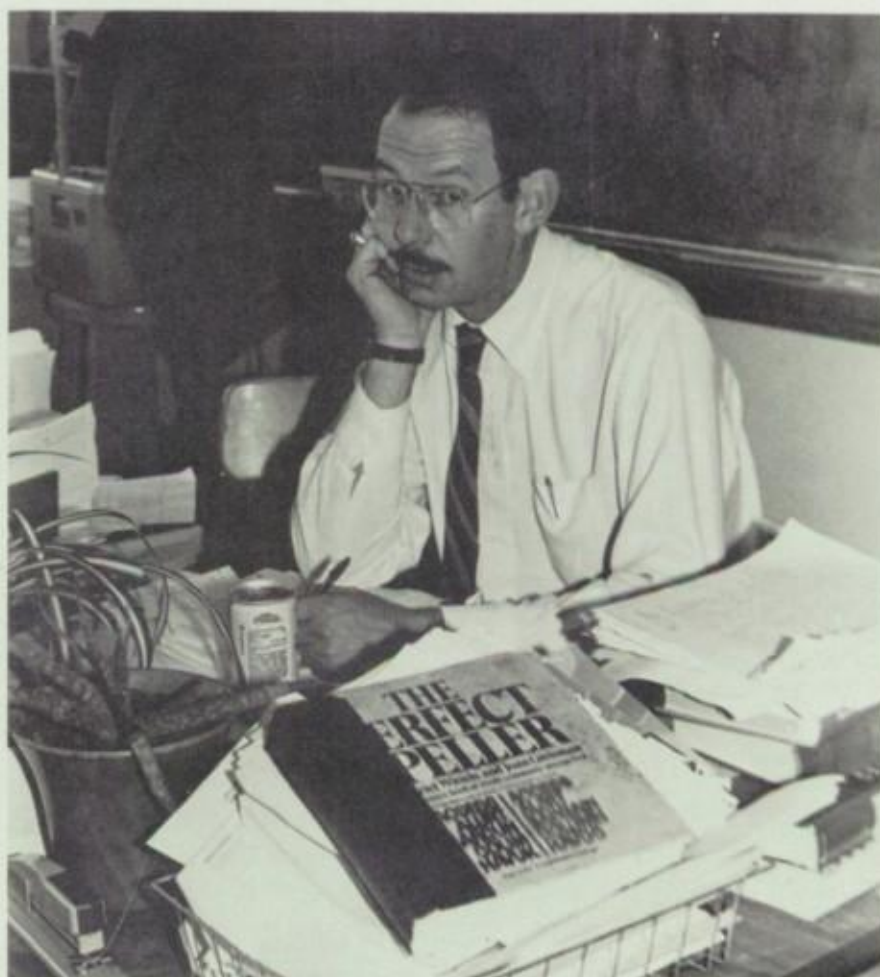

Hanni Margan helps a student in the skills he lacks in.

John Wilhelmsen volunteers lots of time to the Yearbook staff.

Pay Day ... 2:20 on Friday ... An A+ on all the students' tests ... chaperoning dances ... weekends, always too short ... spring vacations ... 100 Pep assemblies ... Parent-Teacher Conference ... directing the Musical ... football games ... Christmas homeroom parties ... the same educational film 6 periods in a row ... reading the same book over and over again ... getting the same absentee and tardy excuses ... the last grade on the last grading sheet of the last quarter of the year ... Faculty thrills.

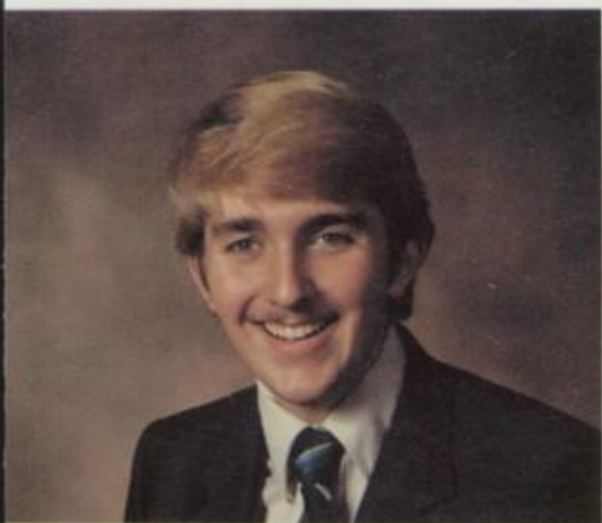

Senior Class Officers: President-Steve Hengen, Vice-President-Ana Delgado, Secretary-JoDee Romans.

The Senior Class Officers this year, headed by Steve Hengen as class president, worked together to keep the seniors high in pride and alive in spirit. The seniors helped out with almost every activity that took place at South this year. They organized the homecoming royalty presentation during Homecoming Week, they did a great job at boosting the football team during the first pep assembly, and Senior Week can definitely be called a success. Two of the officers had received previous leadership experience during their junior high and high school years, which enabled them to combine their talents in leadership and lead the seniors through their most thrilling year ever!!!!

That mixed feeling that this is last time you'll do this ... arriving at that magical age of 18 ... having a boyfriend who goes to college ... starting a career ... your last Homecoming Week as a student ... saving money for college ... taking the ACT test ... the Senior Prom ... thinking, really thinking about the future ... pizza parties ... announcing graduation speakers, the valedictorian and the salutatorian — graduation rehearsal ... the last yearbook day ... it's over ... and yet it's just beginning ... Senior Thrills.

Their foremost goals were to increase school unity and pride between students. One of the hardest things to do was getting everybody involved in the activities.

The Junior class this year, sponsored successfully, Drug and Alcohol Abuse Week, Junior Prom, and Pride Week. During Pride Week the Juniors special activity was clean-up day. Ms. Sorben won that event.

The class sponsors were Mrs. Marine, Mrs. Komeos and Mr. Hill. They helped organize, support and accomplish what the officers did.

Those special people that worked so hard to make it better for their Junior class and our school will be remembered by those who enjoyed the results of their labors.

Being the largest class at South High, the Sophomore Officers faced many tasks and goals which they achieved with the help and support of the entire class. The officers learned that Student Government meant more than a first period class. It meant spending many hours after school attending games, activities, and meetings. It meant striving for unity and participation among all fellow sophomores.

This years Sophomore class officers Peter Orullian-President, John Paul Lopez-Vice-President, and Kim DeSpain-Secretary, had a lot of pep, pride, and enthusiasm. They led the sophomores through a fun, exciting and highly successful year.

These officers together with the Freshman officers sponsored Suicide Prevention Week. They did a great job during spirit week, and the best yet during Sophomore Week.

The year turned out to be a success and the Sophomore Class of "87" officers would like to thank the entire Sophomore Class for their help and participation.

Finally old enough for Drivers' Ed ... getting a drivers' license ... picking on the freshmen ... trying out for cheerleader ... first year with Mr. Bessy ... going to a stomp with a senior ... being socially acceptable ... making Prep Choir ... sophomore assembly ... feeling at home at school ... Sophomore thrills.

Freshman Class Officers: President-Kim Hall, Vice-President- Cinda Salazar, Secretary-Rebecca Wagner

At the beginning of the school year the Freshman class were without officers. As elections drew near, the Freshman strived to choose the best possible to lead their class. When the results were announced it was evident that they had. Kim Hall, Rebecca Wagner, and Cinda Salazar were chosen as the Freshman officers. They did a great job at helping their classmates through their first and hardest year in high school.

The officers attended and supported all of the stomps, dances, games and activities held during the year. Together with the help of their sponsors, Val Davis, Sandra Frascati, Karleen Grief they held Freshman week, helped the Sophomores with Suicide Prevention Week, and achieved their main goal, which was to get all of the Freshman students involved and prepared for the rest of their high school years.

South says "Hello" to the Best year yet;

As a tradition at South High School, a day known as Hello Day is held at the beginning of the year to welcome the students and commemorate the starting of a new year. This year September 7, was the day chosen to introduce the student body officers, cheerleaders, and drill team.

Our first assembly started with a welcoming speech from our Student Body President Sam Milner. Then spirits began to soar as Dr. Sorenson presented our school with "The Excellence in Education Award", which was given to only 125 schools throughout the country. Following the presentation, the Drill Team gave an exciting performance which was followed by a make-believe rendition of the Academy Awards introducing the Student Body and Class officers. Next, this year's football team was introduced by Coach Murray, and the assembly ended as the songleaders and cheerleaders gave a spirited performance.

Although the assembly had ended, the day had just begun. Yet to come was the exciting football game played at Highland High School. Although the team gave it their best they were defeated by the Rams 28 to 3.

Winding up the many activities of the day, came the much anticipated stomp with D.J. Mike Mellon providing us with the utmost in music.

South just wouldn't be South without the spectacular "Hello Day".

"Hello Again"

"Hello Again" was the theme chosen for this year's Homecoming Week. The week of September 24 to September 28 held many thrilling activities and performances.

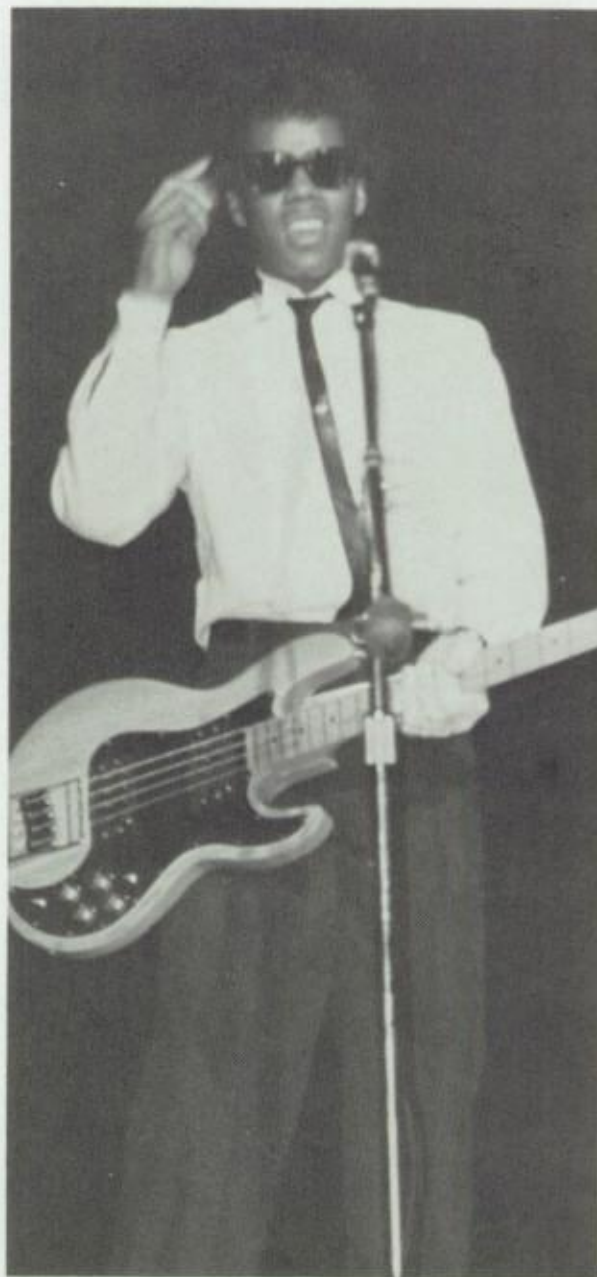

To start the week off with a touch of spirit and pride, many people participated in Dress-up day, held on Monday.

Tuesday's pep assembly added to the spirit as the drill team, song-leaders, and Bel Canto all gave exciting performances. The Cheerleaders led a cheering contest, in which the Sophomores won and took possession of the Spirit "S" South High was then privileged with the presence of the world famous Jackson's, six of our spirited students, who performed "Torture".

Jersey day took place on Thursday followed by the bonfire held at Jordan Park that night. Coach Murray and Coach Georglis gave encouraging speeches to the football team, followed by competition cheers led by the Cheerleaders and song-leaders.

The awaited Blue and White day finally arrived. The afternoon kicked off with the Alumni assembly in which last year's drill team, cheerleaders, songleaders and Bel Canto all gave thrilling performances followed by the crowning of this year's Homecoming King and Queen John Brown was crowned as the King and Kim Harris as Queen.

Our football game, played against Jordan High School was an exciting game. The Cubs were, however, defeated by the Beetdiggers. At half-time the alumni drill team and this year's drill team performed and the Homecoming royalty were presented. Homecoming week ended with the dance which was held that night. The theme was of course, "Hello Again", and the turnout of couples was great. Homecoming week proved to be as thrilling as expected and certainly gave us all the spirit and pride needed to make this year number one!

Football team makes playoffs.

The 1984 football team was the smallest in the region, consisting of only 39 players. In pride, enthusiasm and productivity, however, they were great in stature. After a tough fought season, the Cubs ended up in second place in our region, one of the best finishes in recent years.

One of Coach Murrays innovations was the "Doctor D" towel. This famous towel was printed with a death's head and the title Death on Defense. The towel was worn by the best defensive player from the previous week's game. It seemed to work well; since the competition to wear the towel was fierce, so was the defense. The Dr. D. towel was awarded to Sam Milner at the end of the season.

The biggest thrill, according to the team and coaches, was the win against West whom they hadn't beaten in eleven years. The worst let down came when the team lost the Homecoming game to Jordan.

Excitement rose to its biggest point when the Cubs went to the state playoffs to play Murray. Everyone was disappointed when we didn't get to play on our home field. According to the statistics, South has not hosted a play-off game since 1956. In any case, the game was played at Murray and they won after a hard fought game. The loss in no way lessened the pride of all South High in the 1984 football team.

Volleyball team has a close season

The girls' volleyball teams this year were everything teams could be. They were strong, determined, and above all dedicated. Together they worked to prove that winning was only a small part of their resolution. The other part was, of course, to create unity and teamwork.

The varsity team showed the best example of determination. Although their wins were not numerous, Ana Delgado, Sean McDougall, Trisha Smith and Karen Salerno gave all of their determined attitudes to being the best they could be. Each loss the team had, was by only one or two points.

The J.V. team was strong and powerful. In fact, four of the strongest team players Kayleen Tinau, Burl Vimchi, Lupi Kaihau, and Tasha Pea, were Freshmen. This promises that our girls volleyball team next year, will be number one!

It's a gentleman's sport.

Although golf is considered to be a minor sport in high school, it really is one of the most important sports a person can learn, especially a career person. (Many major business decisions are made on the golf course.) Members of this year's team found this to be only one of the advantages of the sport. Other advantages cited were the challenge and the fact that it is an individual sport and no referees can do you in with a bad decision.

Coach Souvall cited Greg Peck and Troy Keller as top players with respective average scores of 39 and 41. Troy scored well enough to go to region to participate. The team practiced twice a week and played their home matches at Forest Dale Golf Course.

Cross Country is building

This years cross country track team was everything but bad. They started training at the very beginning of the school year, after try-outs and the wait for Coach Stagg's selection.

Nadine Sanders was one of the star runners along with Joey Nunley. Nadine took third in region and fourth in state. Joey Nunley took seventh in region and third in State.

Many Freshman made it to J.V. and Varsity. "We have a real future with the young runners who will be next year's best," was Coach Stagg's predication. His best choices for next years team members were Mike Nieves, Paul Nolan and Dustin Service, ninth graders who were on Varsity this year.

The team of 15 boys and 5 girls made a great foundation to build on, and next year's will be even better

The Spirit of South High

Pride Week was definitely a pride booster. The week got off to a great start with clean-up day, as all the students worked together during their first period classes to wash all desks and tidy up their rooms. Keeping the cafeteria and halls clean was also an emphasis throughout the week. Tuesday many people participated in Dress-up while they welcomed the United States Secretary of Education, Secretary Bell, who was honored with an assembly during which he presented South High with an award for excellence in education. The teachers were honored with a Teacher Appreciation Day and Teacher Appreciation Breakfast. They also received boutennaires from the student body officers. On Friday another assembly was held, in which Mayor Ted Wilson visited and spoke to the South High studentbody. To end the week, South held a stomp which turned out to be a great success.

Drill Team has a new look

The school year started very early for our Southern Stars. All 14 started practicing at the first part of the summer, meeting early in the morning to practice drilling and marching techniques. They also attended a summer camp which was held at Utah State University in Logan for teams from Utah and Idaho. They won a prize for best showmanship in the Kearns Parade, during the summer.

Their sponsor, Miss Mary Herman and the team captain Tina Colonno who has been on the team for two years, both organized, critisized and gave support to the team, which had been chosen at an audition last year by an unbiased dancer who was a friend of last year's sponsor Ellan Marsh. The choreography which was done by all the girls was learned at the summer camp.

They met every school day during seventh period and created and practiced their drill dances which they performed so very well in their dazzling uniforms, with silver sequins, and vright white tassles. They attended a drill team compotion in the spring and did very well on all their categories, content, execution of drill, and showmanship. Overall they were all great and we thank them for the great year they gave us.

Vickie Lopez has got the heart of rock -n- roll.

Spirit Squad is one of the largest ever.

The 1985 cheerleaders or spirit squad, was chosen in April of 1984 at tryouts. This year there were nine members including the mascot. During the summer, they attended a four day camp during which they learned new routines, how to promote and raise school spirit as well as new tumbling and pyramid techniques.

The cheerleaders made their official traditional appearance, on the Hello Day assembly. The other two "big" activities were Homecoming and Spirit Week. And of course, they were always there at the Pep Assemblies and games rousing the spirit of our teams and students alike.

The musical part of South High's Spirit Squad, the Songleaders consisted of 8 members. to eliminate leadership problems this year, they all decided to not choose a head songleader. Choreography, done by all the girls, each adding and subtracting pieces until it comes together, was the high point of the group. They also attended a summer camp at Utah State in Logan along with Idaho for four days learning new steps and pyramid techniques.

Their traditional cheerleading uniforms, after many discussions and votes were picked out and agreed on by the whole group. All eight of them were a big part in South High's pride and will never be forgotten in the history of our school.

Language clubs provide a variety of cultural experiences.

The German Club acquired a new sponsor this year, Marty Smith, who was a track coach and Home Ec teacher is now head of the German department. The French and German students had a year long competition. The contest included Saurkraut snarf, rootbeer guzzling, mask making, water polo tournament. They also provided a library display, planned cafeteria menus for French and German food, visited the Cathedral de Magdelaine, as part of Culture Week. The E.S.L. students (English as a Second Language), consisting of the Viet Nameese and Cambodian students, remembered their own cultural holidays by celebrating them here at South. For instance, during the Chinese New Year they brought all of our home rooms good luck for the New Year with their colorful and majestic dragon of the new year. The Spanish classes, along with the German and French groups went to a B.Y.U. language competition. The contests included: Culteral Bowl, where the students competed with each other to see who was more talented in the language, individual speeches, spelling bees, songs and skits in the language. They also went to the cooking room and prepared native foods. They made pinatas. The students at West and South Highs Spanish Clubs were penpals and had a joint fiesta. The Latin Club, sponsored by Gerry Sorben was one of the first here at South High. They worked with classes from other schools in communications with such an old and distinguished language. Since it is a dead language they didn't go to any camps but did have a great year.

German Exchange

This year was a very special year for the German students of South High. The German Club was offered a chance to go to Germany, and they took it up. The Hartsprung Gymnasium (High School), and the South High German classes in September 1983, applied to the G.A.P.P., German-American, Partnership Program, in Salt Lake City for the student exchange program. The students were chosen only if they were enrolled in a German class, a high G.P.A., good citizenship and letters of reference by the German teacher Mrs. Smith, and Mr. Wood a counselor.

The American students from South left on May 29, 84 and returned on July 1st. They went to Hamburg, Germany and participated in many exciting and educational activities, living with and attending school with their hosts. The Germans arrived during the first month of school and enjoyed their stay very much. They came with Hannes Beeken and Ungrid Heer of Germany. All 50 Americans and Germans had a very special year and a great time in foreign countries.

Bel Canto and A'cappella plan for tour

When the twenty-seven Bel Canto members get together every fourth and sixth period, they make beautiful music. Bel Canto is the group of extratalanted students who could sing their way to heaven.

They were chosen by an extensive audition held by former Bel Canto members and their sponsor Mr. MacPherson. Each person had to sing a solo as well as do many different exercises. After auditions, the members attended a Bel Canto camp during the summer to train for appearance and performing techniques and it must have worked because they sounded and looked terrific.

A'capella is the largest choir at South High and is a mixture of Bel Canto and A'capella which means singing without accompaniment. Their year started out by getting organized and learning material for the performances. Although they performed many times during the year, the majority took place during the Christmas season. The A'cappella Choir held a benefit dinner on Monday December 19th to raise money for next year tour.

C.U.B.S. News goes to thrice weekly

The C.U.B.S. News staff this year consisted of eleven members, who worked each day to produce an informative news broadcast, which occurred three times a week.

Under the direction of Al Keiffer as sponsor, and Jeff Ahlers as C.U.B.S. News director the news team did a successful job in interviewing special guests, and presenting important and critical issues to the student body. The news was also a frequent way of presenting special students with various awards.

The Scribe staff this year with Mary Herman as supervisor, consisted of eight members. Each member has exceptional talent in writing, and did the best job possible to write informative and intersting articles for the paper. In September, members attended a journalism conference at B.Y.U. which helped them learn more creative and expressive ways to write. The members of the staff received an apple computer at the first of the year, which gave them more encouragement and incentive to work. Because of their involvement, students acquired skills in writing, reporting and graphics which will give them more opportunities in the future.

Art Club has talent!!

The South High Art Company this year involved twelve of South Highs most talented students. The art club sponsored by Mr. Moore and led by Russell Fellows as President, Ana Delgado as Vice-president, and Teresa Colonno as Secretary participated in and attended many special activities throughout the year.

In order to be a member of the art club the selected students had to enter some of their works in an art show and win an award in that show, after which they were voted on by the existing membership. They supplied many entries to the Springville Art Show, attended special lectures and workshops at the Art Center at Utah State University, BYU, and the U of U. The club also orgnaized time service projects, sponsored the Christmas sale and the end of year South High Art Show.

Each student proved their talents in special ways and showed that South High does have many truly gifted students.

The age-old potter's wheel is still in vogue.

Debate Club, small but strong

The Debate team this year, with sponsor Mr. Sherry, consisted of 10 talented students who were given their chance to prove their communication skills. Also by participating in Debate/Forensics, students were able to increase reasoning, quickness of thought, personal poise and confidence, as well as their verbal-skill development.

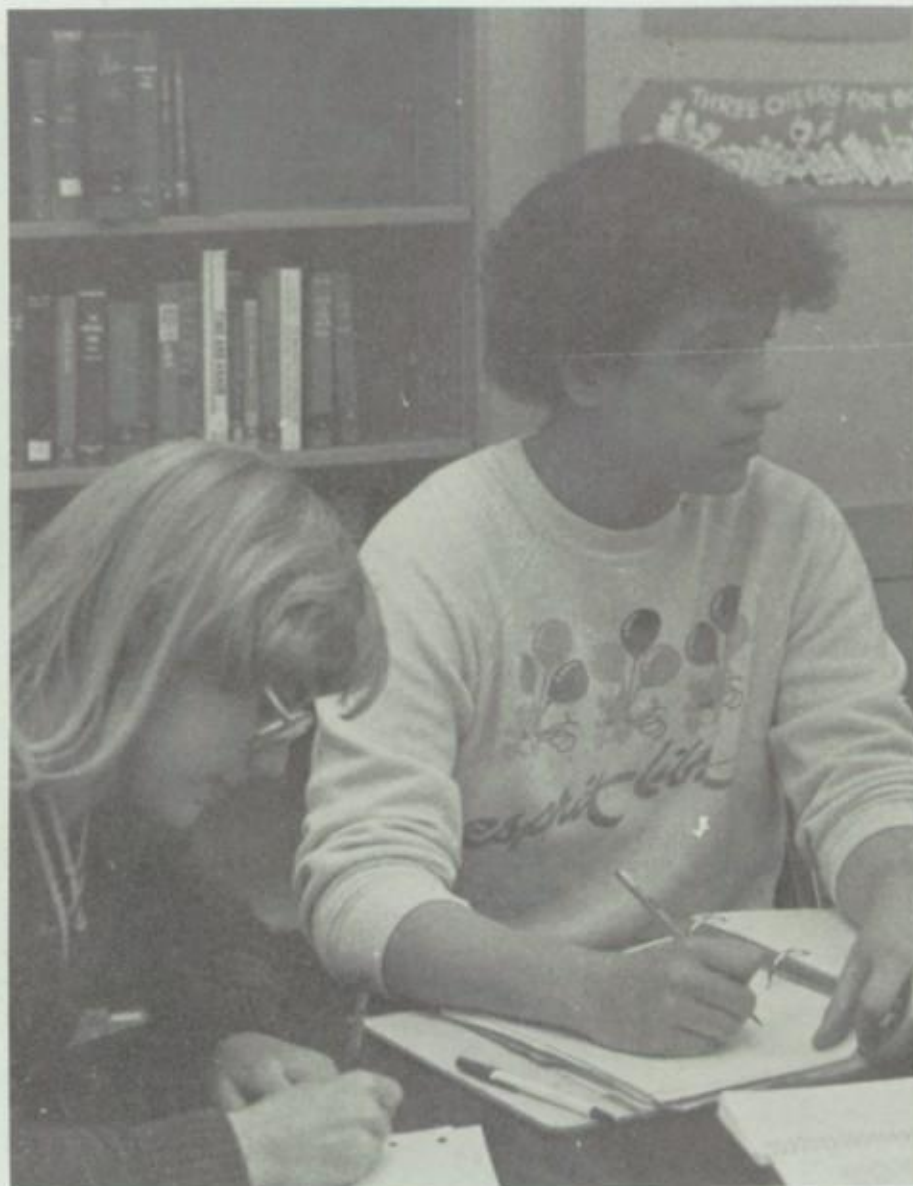

This year the Debate subject was "The Federal Government should provide jobs for all U.S. Citizens." Each day the students met to discuss and prepare for the nine meets which they attended.

Debate would certainly be called a challenge as the students always had to be ready to defend both sides of an issue, not knowing which side they would be called to compete on.

Vocational Clubs

The Vocational Clubs this year although not very large in size, included FBLA-Future Business Leaders of America, FHA-Future Homemakers of America and VICA-Vocational Industrial Clubs of America.

The FBLA, sponsored by Curt Hood, included only ten students, who spent most of their time preparing for and attending the Utah FBLA State Conference at BYU in April, during which they competed in the areas of job interviews, typing competitions, word processing competitions, etc.

The FHA under the direction of Miss. Green and Mrs. McCleery, accomplished such service projects as the valentine cookie grounds, assisting the March of Dimes, and Making two hundred fruit cakes for the festival of trees in December. The club officers, Shelly Robinson-Pres., Debbie Gunn-Vice Pres., Lewis Martinez-Sec., Thelma McCoy-Historian, and John Lewis-Historian, along with the twenty members of FHA attended the Healthy Babies fair, the leadership convention held in Orem, and the Regional/State Convention held in Provo.

The Vica Clubs main objective was to create leadership in young people. As a group they attended two leadership workshops throughout the year, one in the spring, and one in the fall, both of which helped them to prepare for the Olympic Skills Competition. The first Olympic Skills Competition was held at state level, and the second, the National Olympic Competition was held in Fort Knox, Kentucky. During the competitions students were given the chance to show their talents in everything from carpentry to hair-dressing, and gourmet cooking to trouble shooting the engine of a car.

Stage and A.V. Crews help productions

Throughout the year many great assemblies and productions were made possible by the hard work and efforts of the stage and audio visual crews. The Stage Art Crew under the direction of Mr. Taylor, Spent most of their time on the stage building and designing sets moving props; and building walks, doorways, steps and large drops for the musical "Paint your Wagon". Starting in September and continuing until April, the Five, Membered crew with it's president Jared Peterson, Accomplished such as the stage work for the musical in March, plays by the drama classes, assemblies, etc. The A.V. crews directed by Mr. Cheley. also helped a great deal with the musical, all of the assemblies, and the plays. Most of their time was spent in the audio visual room and backstage, working the sound systems, lights for the stage, auditorium, etc. Many valuable skills are taught to the crew, which will give them better opportunities in the years to come.

Fairness and Minority affairs are new committees

To very unique and special committees were held this year to help unite and support the entire studentbody. The Minority Affairs Committee, whose members met every other week to discuss issues concerning the many minority groups in South High, was supervised by five of Souths best teachers. The committee was designed to create unity among the students so that they could get to know each other better and appreciate each other more. They successfully created and held cultural week and sponsored a cultural assembly.

The Fairness Committee, which has eleven members-six students one parent, and four staff members, heard people who hade complaints or problems they were not been able, to settle. Members, who were chosen, through application and on recommendation, all agreed was arriving at dicisions as a group of equals to assure that every member of South High was treated with equal fairness.

It's realy nice to relax while you're working

The minority affairs also knows how to have fun while they work.

Spirit Week really moves.

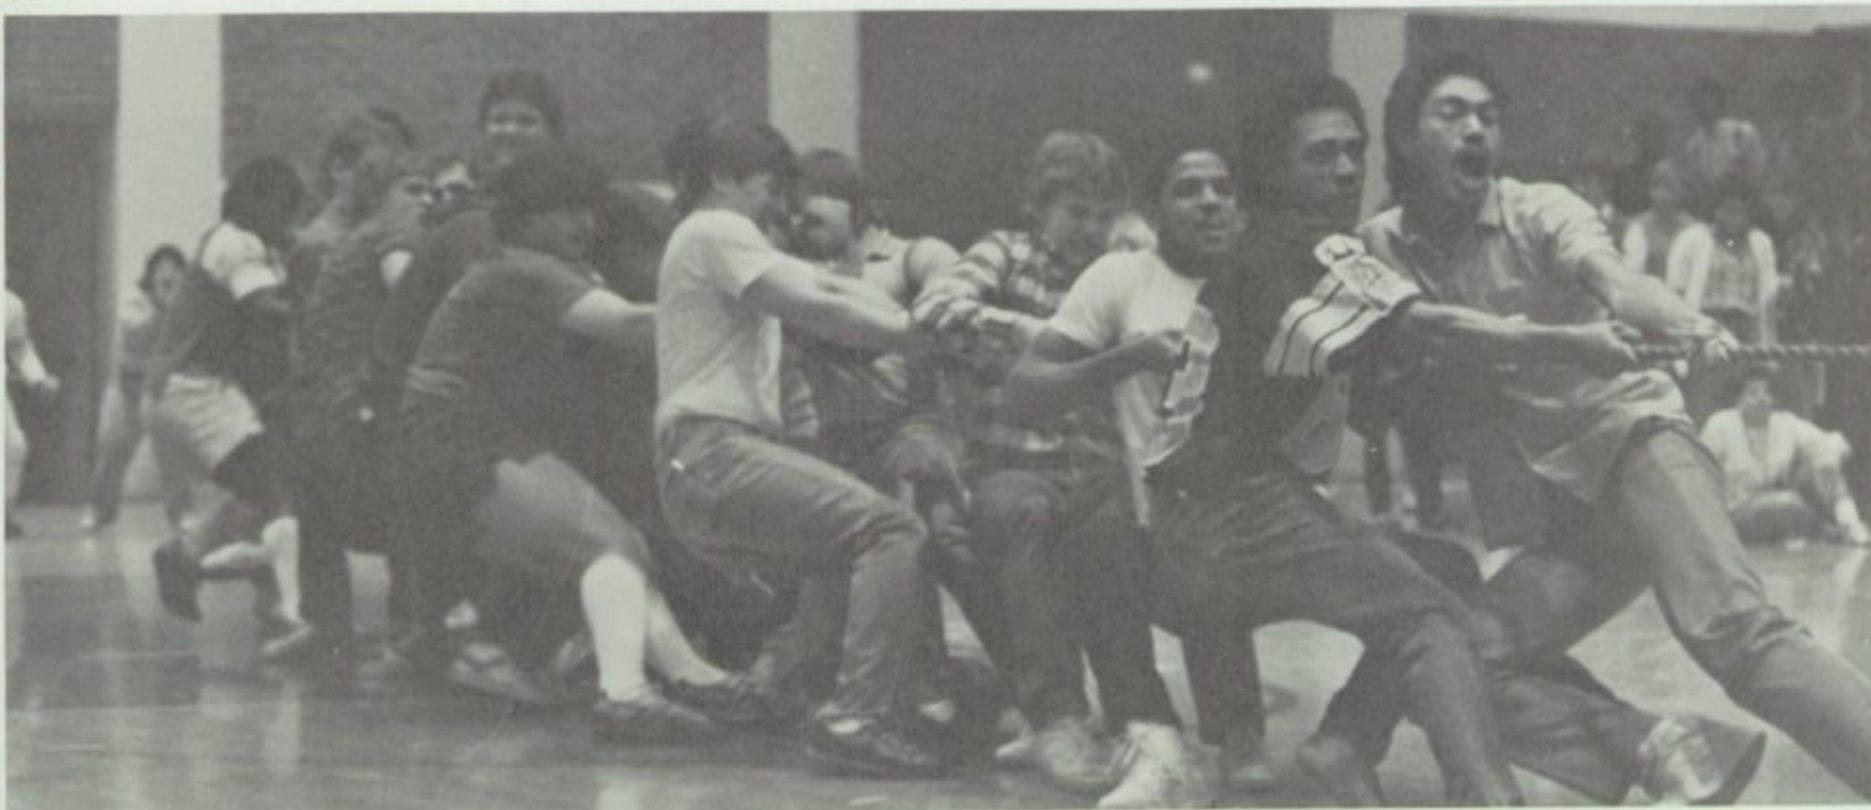

During February this year, Spirit Week was held. It was a very competitive and involving week during which each student had the opportunity to participate and show their spirit.

Each day spirit ribbons from each class were awarded to spirited people, whether they were assembly participants, dress-up day participants, or pep participants.

Three dress-up days were held: beach day, sweats day, and blue and white day, which all turned out to be a great success. On Tuesday a class assembly was held, which included class skits, and air band performances to The Time - "Jungle Love".

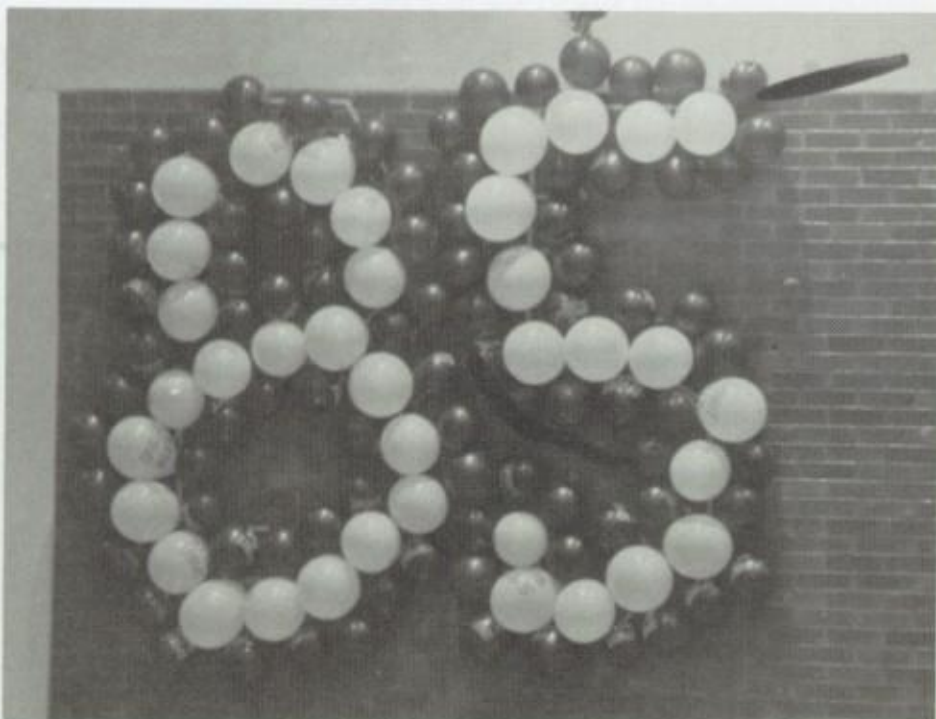

Friday, the pep assembly was held. It turned out to be the most fun and exciting part of spirit week. Cheering competitions, relays, tug-o-wars, and obstacle courses were held, in which the Freshmen and Senior Classes pulled ahead of the rest. Perhaps the most exciting event was the suck-face competition held, while stand on blocks of ice.

The basketball game, played against the Jordan High Beatdiggers, and followed by an end-of-the-week stomp, was truly spirited, and victorious, as South High Cubs won the game.

Girls go to State!

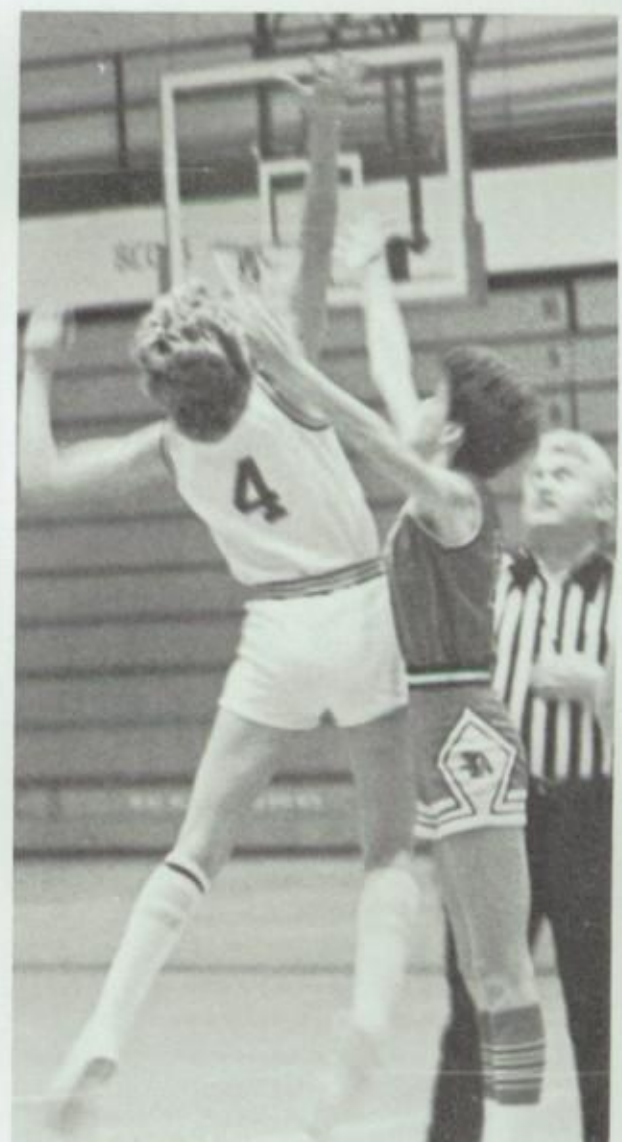

The 84-85 girls varsity basketball team was another of South's girls teams to qualify for state competition. All thirteen of the girls were very excited and trained hard, with coach Ken Hopkins. The team, consisting mainly of juniors and seniors, met some tough competition and still managed to take second in their region.

According to Coach Hopkins, the hardest game was with Judge Memorial who handed the girls one of their losses. The most exciting was a game with Tooele because it clinched their right to go to State.

The Girls' 3-A State Tournament was held at South on March 18-23. Winners from all over the state, including South, battled for the top positions. The Lady Cubs made a valiant effort but were eliminated in their second match after losing to Springville in a double overtime game.

Cubs win All-City Tournament.

What can you say about a team that lives and breathes the word "CLASS"?

Small in numbers but not in power, the varsity basketball team had only twelve members, each with his own style, yet working as one, striving toward the same goal—the Utah State Championship.

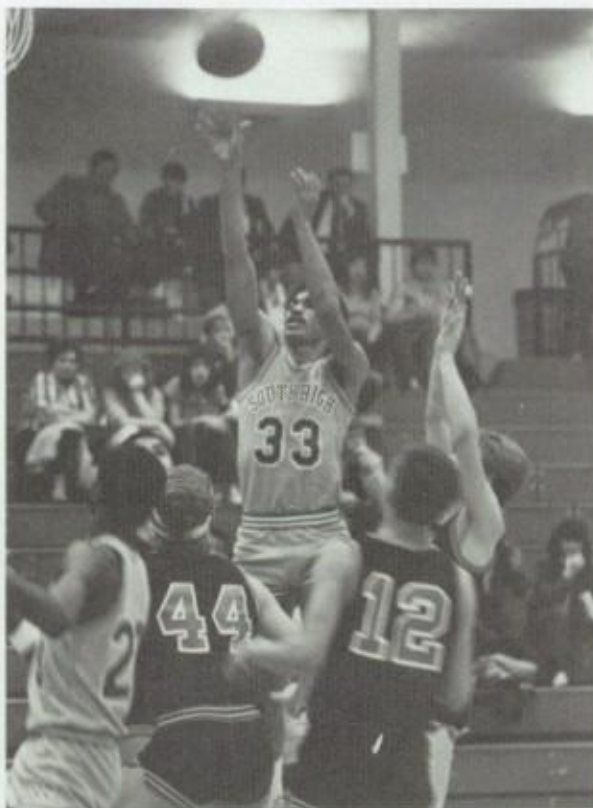

The team gave early evidence of greatness as they participated in the traditional Holiday Tournament with the other city teams. They beat Highland the first night and then took the City Championship with a last second foul shot by Tony Taliauli that beat East in the finish.

The rest of the season was equally exciting. The only team the Cubs couldn't seem to beat was Judge, though they came close the time losing by a last second basket. Their league play was good enough to earn a place in the State Tournament which was the most important thing.

The boys' 3-A tournament was the usual exciting event. The first round of games pitted South against Ben Lomond. The losers of that round played each other. Among those was South against Springville. The Cubs won and the tournament moved to the Marriott Center in Provo. The first game there was with Jordan, which was a win. The second game was with Skyview and was lost which gave the Cubs eighth place in State. A Good Record!

Eight swimmers go to State.

Swimming an average of 4,000 yds. a day, South High's swim team trained and prepared for their season. One of the most challenging meets they participated in was South vs. Highland, because of the fact that they train in our pool and the rivalry is intense. The girl's team lost by only two points and the boys won by twelve.

The team agrees that their most rewarding meet was the Region meet, during which 42 out of 56 swimmers had all-time bests, and the team as a whole placed higher than they had in years.

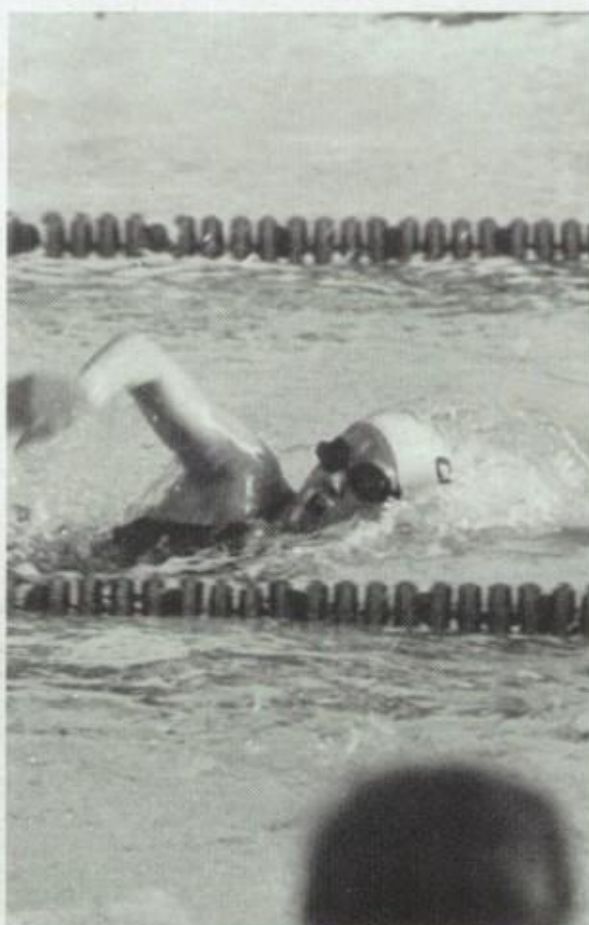

In order to qualify for the state meet, which was held the last week of February, swimmers had to swim one of the top 18 times in the various region meets. Relay teams had to qualify in the top 12 State wide. South had many talented swimmers qualify for the state meet at B.Y.U. Among them were Tansy Golightly, Kelli Bacon, Quincy Comeau, Jenifer Kendall, and Charlotte Fife. Among the boys were Jon Bulseco, Cory Golightly, and Casy Chivers.

South High wrestler takes State

The wrestling team this year did an exceptional job. This team is the first in South's history to take a position in a state championship. John Paul Lopez placed first in state against a world champion in his division. Philip Garcia also did well, placing third in his weight division. All forty members contributed to the winning season of the team.

Out of 24 teams, South finished eleventh in state, third in Region, second in the Salt Lake invitational, and had an all-star state wrestler, the first here at South, one of two in the region.

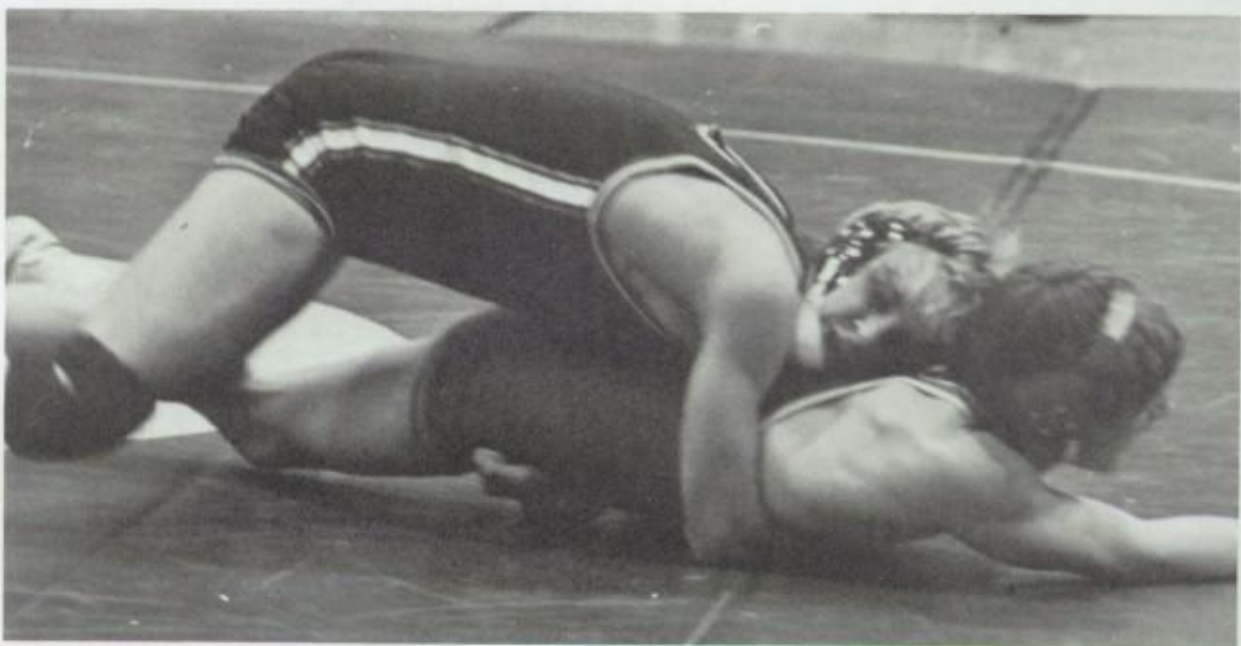

The biggest challenge, said the team was having a commitment to meeting weight qualifications for the matches. In this, they had special moral support as they did at all their matches. A group of girls banded together and called themselves the Wrestlerettes. They also provided the team with special treats and surprises.

Good friends as well as teammates, Tim and Phillip share their moment of glory.

Dragon appears to initiate Cultural Week.

This year, Culture Week was held on the week of April 15-19 and was a great success.

On Monday, the library started its elaborate and interesting displays with the help of the different ethnic clubs and individual students. Each culture brought art, sculptures, books, currency, and clothing to represent their nations. Among them were Hispanic, American, Oriental, Negro, Polynesian, Cambodian, and Viet Nameese.

Also, everyday of the week the cafeteria served different ethnic foods.

On Friday, the major activities went on, with was a poster contest with the theme of "Rainbow of Colors" that resulted in many creative and thematic posters from many talented students.

The Cultural Assembly was also held on Friday, not just for students, but adult representatives too. It included an array of performances: dancing of every kind, music from all countries and the reading of poetry and famous literature.

The whole week was a lot of fun and an exciting learning experience.

Gymnastics is renewed.

After three years with no gymnastics team to represent the school, South High decided that it was time to put some of their talents into action. The girls that came to participate in the team were strong, dedicated, and determined. With hardly any practice or experience, South's team competed in a tri-meet against Judge & Tooele, and four girls, Kris Draper, Natalie Phillips, Genni Bulseco, and Dawn Bradshaw, placed. Overall, South placed second in the competition. Two other schools that South competed against were West and Highland.

The coach, Monica French, and the faculty supervisor, Beverly Peck, both agreed that the team had shown more interest and dedication than any team they had seen. They believed that South will definitely be strong and powerful in the years to come.

"Paint Your Wagon" is a great success.

The weekend of the 21st, 22nd, 23rd of March was a busy one for the cast and chorus of South High's 1985 musical "Paint Your Wagon". Todd Morgan did a spectacular job as the lead, Ben Rumsen. Other leads were Russell Fellows, Bonnie Raisch, and Matthew Graham.

When the first women, Cathy Royal accompanied by her husband, Randolph Prawitt, showed up in town all hell broke loose and the chorus whoops it up in "Whoop-it-ay".

The excellent performances can only be attributed to hours of practice during and after school as well as on weekends, under the direction of Sandra Frascati, Ellen Marsh and Scott MacPherson. With the indispensable help of the stage managers, the musical was executed with professional pizzazz!

It's spring time-it's track time.

Winter is a time of training and rest, but in the spring they are right back in there with track and field competitions. The participation of coaches only lent elbow grease for the team to prove it's strength of triumph all on their own. The coaches are Coach Stagg and Marty Smith for the girls side of the track team.

The big hopefuls for this years team were veterans Danny Owens and Naydeen Sanderson. Athletic bodies carried out their athletic requirments well. Requirments which sometimes meant doing sprints, high jumping, shotputting and a lot of sweating. The team has a reputation of being achievers and the Spring of 1985 proved to be no different.

Soccer is stronger than ever.

South underwent a change in their sports program last year (1984) and the soccer team was it. This year, 1985 was only the second year of soccer in quite a while.

The teams combination of many nationalities proved to be a major factor in their success. From the first to the last game, team members exercised skill, talent, energy, and maybe a little luck. The new tradition at South High seems to be proving itself to other teams, as well, to the rest of us.

This year's team also had a new and refreshing change, they received the first female member. Lori McGarvey is the first to be on a boys' soccer teams.

Lady Cubs provide softball thrills.

This year's softball team returned the following seniors: Bonnie Olson, Angela Sakallariou, Lisa Labato, Marie Martinez, and Tina Colonno and included two returning Juniors: Sharon Brockmeier, and Jamie Frantz. A new senior addition this year was Vickie Lucero, from Emery County.

Our competition was probably the greatest we have had in five years. There were twelve teams from throughout the valley competing against one another. The South High Lady Cubs team was comprised of very experienced players along with girl's playing for the first time at the high school level.

In the past five years the girl's softball team has always placed as one of the top three teams in the competition. We look forward to another strong year for the Lady Cubs, according to Coach Karline Grief.

The baseball team this year was basically a young and inexperienced team. They did however have three returning players, who did an exceptionally good job, and were well prepared for their challenges. Don Harris, a senior, was the leading hitter last year for the team. Richard Tidwell and Page Tall, both returned to the varsity team from last years varsity team, this being Richards fourth year. The team did a great job and worked to strengthen their team and prove that South High's Cubs Can Do It!

The girls team was especially strong, placing second in region. Sherrie Hatcher, the best bowler on the team, had the highest average of all the leagues followed by Courtney Harrison, who came in second, winning a trophy for his High Handi Cap. The trophies for the most improved were given to Rich Nichols and Annette Rufennacht. Paul Kushlan won a trophy for high average of the boys. Tennis has new coaches.

This year's hopefuls for a very powerful team are Nate Ochsen-shirt, Greg Peck, David Gundry, and John Manglinon.

The team played approximatly ten matches and were very successful. The team's fourteen members all played a major part in the team's victories.

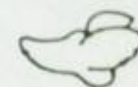

The Coaches, Jim Hill, Audry Anderson, and Mary Herman were the teams back-bone to the great year they had.

Assemblies are fewer but better.

Most of the assemblies during the year were associated with special weeks. Homecoming, Pride Week, Spirit Week and all the four Class Weeks each had at least one special assembly to help capture the event fully.

Two of the most outstanding assemblies which will live on for all students were the ones featuring national Education Secretary T.H. Bell who presented our Excellence in Education award and the speech from Mayor Ted Wilson. All these assemblies were great breaks in the daily grind.

Scholars prepare for Sterling performance

This years Sterling Scholars had to go through many complicated procedures in order to reach their goals. Their first main objective was to write a letter of application to the department head of their area. The letter included such things as their G.P.A., extra curricular activities, and why they thought they'd be good Sterling Scholars.

Their next objective was to prepare a portfolio containing a picture of themselves, letters of recommendation from teachers and principals, and a history of their scholastic and community accomplishments.

Each Sterling Scholar was interviewed by university teachers, professors, and community members from their field. Finalists were chosen to appear on T.V. in April and from there, a runner-up, and a finalist were awarded Scholarship money for their continuing education.

National Honor Society inducts top Juniors and Seniors.

The process started in January as teachers and counselors were asked to recommend their very best students for consideration as members of the National Honor Society. After the lists were received by the committee, the weeding out process began.

First the lists were all checked for duplication of names, then they were checked again to match grade point averages with each name. Honor Society members must have an over-all grade point average of 3.5 as a minimum. Next, the teachers of each student were asked to fill out a questionnaire about the students. Finally, the committee met to choose the final group. These were the lucky ones who were invited to the induction ceremonies held on March 11th in the library.

Marilyn Miller gets her Honors plaque and warm congratulations from Dr. Sorenson.

Advice and being there when we needed them.

As editors we would like to thank all the staff members. Willing cooperation was their password.

We also hope you will like our choice of theme. School, like life, is what you make it. There's a thrill a minute there if you only learn to find it.

was here

Manti,
It's been a great year with you!
Thanks for being a good friend!

Megan

Manti,
Hope ya have a fun summer. It's been nice knowing ya.
Don't get too close to Scot you might end up being a mommie!

Well, I guess this is the end of seeing your "horse on a white Knight at school, but I'll probably see you later on, have a nice summer.

Mandi-
You're a true original. Sending S'll like you to update my fringed wardrobe. It's been a lot of fun to have you in my class and watch you grow. I know you'll do well in the Southham's AP class.
